Due to short notice please find below short answers to Your questions:

1. To my knowledge neither the district court nor the appeal court found any wrongdoing by CM and/or GJRP regarding the used information.
2. To my knowledge the information provided by CM/GJRP was never sole evidence or ground for establishing probable cause to prosecute Gibril Massaquoi.
3. To my knowledge any information provided by CM/GJRP was always verified by Finnish police authorities before possible used in the prosecution process.
4. To investigate and to prosecute for the alleged crimes was based on universal jurisdiction.
- Finnish Criminal code Section 7 (626/1996): "International offence Finnish law applies to such an offence committed outside of Finland where the punishability of the act is, regardless of the law of the place of commission, based on an international agreement binding on Finland or on another statute or regulation internationally binding on Finland (international offence)."
